Prosci Change Practitioner Course

Three Days

Objective

Participants will be equipped with Prosci's research-based change management methodology and tools including the Prosci 3-Phase Process, Prosci® ADKAR® Model, and Practitioner eToolkit in order to develop scaled change management strategies for projects and initiatives.

Intended Audience

Employees who are responsible for managing change on specific projects or initiatives or those responsible for building an organizational change management competency. In this class, you will utilize one of your actual projects or initiatives to both learn the change management methodology and start creating a customized change plan for that project.

Cost

Note: UAMS does not charge for the instruction of the course, but UAMS must purchase the copyrighted course material for each participant. The cost also covers the 1 year subscription to Prosci's Practitioner etoolkit which gives you access to change management templates, videos, checklists, assessments, and many more tools to help ensure successful change management throughout your projects.

Schedule (max 12 participants per class)
